

A2i SUMMER

As our implementation research has shown, schools can be greatly assisted in accomplishing and sustaining the goal of over 90% of children reading at or above grade level by connecting with and aligning with community organizations. A2i Summer is the tool for community and school organizations to help programs support children’s literacy during the summer months.

A2i Summer provides consistent technology, similar to what is used in the classroom, for ongoing support to summer programs. This provides instructors working with children, multiple activities and strategies that are grade and age appropriate. A2i Summer assists instructors with lesson planning and ensures that children are getting exactly what they need to reach reading proficiency by the end of 3rd grade.

Learning Ovation builds the capacity of the Lead Organization staff to sustain and scale the A2i Summer in their communities. This image shows one framework for organizational relationship and critical roles:

Learning Ovation: Literacy Outcomes Specialist (LOS)

The Literacy Outcomes Specialist (LOS) supports the Lead Organization as they implement Science of Reading research through the A2i Summer platform including questions about assessments, recommendations, and curriculum. The LOS does this through a gradual release of responsibility model to build the capacity of key players for A2i Summer. Initially, the LOS's support is heaviest in the Prewrite, Plan and Launch & Support phase, transitioning support to consultation with the Lead Organization Implementation Manager.
